Introduction

What is Series FLEX?

The National Evaluation Series™ FLEX ("Series FLEX") provides an assessment option for candidates whose score on selected test fields is within one standard error of measurement of the passing score. Candidates who meet this eligibility requirement may have the opportunity to submit a Series FLEX assessment rather than retaking their test.

For Series FLEX, candidates provide an analysis of test objectives/competencies to demonstrate the depth of their subject matter knowledge. Most candidates will provide a written submission to demonstrate their subject matter knowledge. Candidates will complete the analysis and submit it to be scored using Pearson's ePortfolio system. Candidates who pass Series FLEX will meet the relevant subject matter test requirement for their credential, but may still need to take and pass additional subject matter tests as required by their credential area.

Each program site includes Series FLEX assessment information, policies (including eligibility requirements), account creation and registration, as well as access to the Pearson ePortfolio system upon registration.

About the Series Program

The Series program includes tests of subject matter knowledge designed to ensure that educators are knowledgeable in the subject matter of the credential sought.

Each test is designed to measure areas of knowledge called subareas or domains. Within each subarea/domain is a list of statements of important knowledge called objectives or competencies. Together these define the content of the test. The test objectives/competencies were validated for the Series by educators from across the country and were aligned with national standards for each content area.

About Series FLEX

What fields are included in Series FLEX?

The Series website provides information about the Series FLEX assessment options. Candidates are strongly encouraged to review this website prior to registering for Series FLEX.

Eligibility Requirements for Series FLEX Candidates

Not all states have adopted Series FLEX. Candidates should refer to the program website to determine if they are eligible to take Series FLEX.

Candidates are eligible to take Series FLEX if they have taken the corresponding Series test and received a scaled score that meets the eligibility requirements outlined on their state webpage on the Series website.

Candidates are required to register for and pay a fee to complete Series FLEX.

Demonstrating Broad and Deep Subject Matter Knowledge

Candidates who take Series FLEX are required to prepare an organized, developed analysis on a topic related to the content of test objectives/competencies included in the set of Series test objectives/competencies for their field. This test objective/competency is included as part of the assessment option name. The selected objectives/competencies for Series FLEX come from current Series test objectives/competencies in each content area. The selected objectives/competencies were previously reviewed by a Bias Review Committee and the field-specific Content Advisory Committee.

The expectation is that Series FLEX submissions will reflect an analysis of the chosen topic and not merely a response that provides a list of facts related to the chosen topic. Candidates may wish to review Webb's Depth of Knowledge[1] in preparing to respond to Series FLEX. Series FLEX submissions are expected to demonstrate a Level 3 or Level 4 depth of knowledge.
The purpose of the Series FLEX submission is to enable candidates to demonstrate their content knowledge as evidence of their readiness for an initial teaching position. Candidates select Series FLEX test objectives/competencies, review the descriptive statements within the objectives/competencies they will address, and define a topic to address in the Series FLEX submission. Candidates' submissions must be their original work and not the product of others. Candidates may not collaborate with others in preparing their submissions. Submissions will be screened for originality.

The instructions and rubrics in this handbook will be used by candidates to prepare a submission that demonstrates the depth of their understanding of the subject matter included in the test objectives/competencies. Scorers also will use these instructions and rubrics to assess each submission. The Series FLEX instructions will be reviewed and updated, as needed, to improve clarity and provide guidance to candidates.

Originality Screening

Candidates' submissions are screened for originality, therefore the guidelines listed below must be followed:

- Candidates' submissions must be their original work and not the product of others.

- Candidates may not collaborate with others in preparing their submissions.

- Candidates may not copy or paraphrase content from the Test Information Guide and/or the Practice Test for their field and use it in their Series FLEX submissions.

Refer to the "Administrative Review" section of this handbook for more information.

Generative Artificial Intelligence (AI) Policy

Generative artificial intelligence (AI) refers to a type of AI that is capable of creating new content—such as text, images, and more—by learning from existing data. Candidates may not use generative AI tools, including chatbots, to generate student data or create any content that is used in Series FLEX submissions. In addition, Series FLEX candidates are expected to do their own analysis and synthesis of information included in their submissions without the use of generative AI tools.

Prior to Registering for Series FLEX

Candidates are encouraged to thoroughly review the Series FLEX materials included on the program website prior to completing their Series FLEX registration. Carefully review the templates, the requirements included in the template for your Series FLEX, any resources referenced in the templates, the performance characteristics and scoring scale, and the sample strong responses included in the practice test or study guide that is related to your Series FLEX.

Planning Your Submission

Follow the steps below to complete your Series FLEX submission:

1. Review the Series FLEX template. During the online Series FLEX registration process, select the assessment using options provided in registration. You can download the Series FLEX template, which includes assessment directions, from the program website and from the Pearson ePortfolio system. Use the template to provide the information needed to complete the analysis in Step 7.

2. Review the Series test objectives/competencies and the associated descriptive statement(s) that are assessed by your Series FLEX registration. The test objectives/competencies specify the content to be included on the Series test. Each test objective/competency is further elaborated by a set of descriptive statements. Read each of the test objectives/competencies and descriptive statement(s) carefully before you begin to prepare your submission. Note: Some Series FLEX assessments may require you to indicate the descriptive statement numbers in their template; some may require you to address all and/or specific descriptive statements in their submissions. Specific information is included in the Series FLEX template for each assessment.

3. Review the resources for your Series FLEX. A list of approved resources for each Series FLEX assessment is included on the program website. Resources for preparing your submission and developing topic statements, questions, or scenarios include relevant curriculum frameworks and/or resources. Use these resources to prepare your submission as indicated in the template.

4. Complete the Prompt Section of the template. You will respond to a series of prompts related to your Series FLEX assessment. Complete all prompts included in the Prompt Section of the template.

5. Describe the topic, scenario, or question you will address in your submission. The topic, scenario, or question you will address in your submission should allow you to prepare an analysis that demonstrates your subject matter knowledge of the content assessed by the test objectives/competencies. You will indicate the topic, scenario, or question to be addressed in the Series FLEX template.

6. Cite any sources used to prepare your submission. Gather any sources you will use to prepare your Series FLEX submission and list these sources in the Series FLEX template. Sources may include textbooks, articles, course materials, or other printed or electronic materials you will use to prepare your Series FLEX submission; active hyperlinks to sources are not allowed and should be removed from any URLs.

7. Prepare an analysis in which you demonstrate your knowledge of the content assessed by the test objectives/competencies and further elaborated by the descriptive statements. As a whole, the Series FLEX submission must demonstrate your understanding of the subject matter knowledge of the content of the test objectives/competencies and reflect a Level 3 or Level 4 depth of knowledge on Webb's Depth of Knowledge as noted above. You should apply your knowledge rather than merely recite factual information.

Written submissions are required for all Series FLEX assessments. You will provide your analysis in the Series FLEX assessment template. Typed submissions in Arial 11-point, single-spaced font of up to 3 pages will be accepted. Scorers will evaluate only the first 3 pages of a submission.

If you register for Series-FLEX Spanish—Oral Expression, you are required to create an unedited oral submission of at least 4 minutes and no more than 5 minutes in length. Submissions that are less than 4 minutes in length will not be scored. Scorers will not evaluate any portion that exceeds 5 minutes. Submissions must be submitted as a video file with the Series FLEX Spanish—Oral Expression Template. Only you should appear in the submitted video; no other person's voice and/or image may be included. Do not read your submission from cue cards.

8. Review your submission. Carefully review your submission against the Rubrics for your Series FLEX prior to uploading it to the ePortfolio system.

Series FLEX Policies

Policies governing Series FLEX registration, assessment, and score reporting are included on the Policies page of the program website.

Candidates are expected to review the policies and are required to confirm them as part of the registration and submission processes.

The following is a brief description of the assessment policies:

- Eligibility Requirements: Series scaled scores range by assessment and state and are used to determine eligibility to take the corresponding Series FLEX.

- Rules of Test Participation: Rules and requirements for registering and participating in the Series FLEX assessment

- Submission Attestations: Candidate confirmation of Series FLEX requirements that is part of the submission process

- Scoring Information: Information about score reporting and administrative reviews

- Retake Policy: Rules and guidelines for retaking Series FLEX

Evaluation Criteria

Series FLEX submissions are scored holistically by trained scorers according to standardized procedures, using a scoring rubric that includes a set of performance characteristics and a scoring scale. (Scoring rubrics for each Series FLEX assessment can be found below and in the study guide for the corresponding Series test on the program website.)

Scorers include teachers and educator preparation and arts and sciences faculty, qualified in the specific Series FLEX test areas. While scorers' qualifications may vary depending on the Series FLEX assessment they will score, in general scorers have qualifications such as

- an educator license/certificate;
- teaching experience in public schools;
- experience as a college educator responsible for preparing teacher candidates.

Scorers are trained in the scoring process. This process involves at least two scorers independently scoring each candidate's submission using the scoring rubric. If there is a discrepancy in the scores assigned to a candidate's submission, the submission is scored by another scorer to resolve the discrepancy. Scorers are monitored during the scoring process to ensure consistency in scoring.

Once scoring is complete, the candidate's score is compared with the approved qualifying (passing) score for the Series FLEX assessment. Since candidate responses are evaluated by multiple scorers and have essentially already been rescored, there is no rescoring service for Series FLEX submissions. Score reports are generated for candidates and released according to the score reporting schedule provided on the test information page for the Series FLEX assessment.

Series FLEX Scoring Rubrics

The scoring rubrics will be used to evaluate each candidate's Series FLEX submission. Each scoring rubric includes a set of performance characteristics and a scoring scale. The performance characteristics provide the criteria that scorers will use to evaluate candidate submissions. The scoring scale describes how the performance characteristics work together at varying levels of performance. Each scoring rubric has been reviewed by the Series Bias Review Committee and field-specific Content Advisory Committee.

In preparing their Series FLEX assessment materials for submission, candidates are strongly encouraged to review the scoring rubric expectations and to evaluate their work using the appropriate scoring rubric.

Unscorable Codes

If your submission does not meet the submission requirements or for any of the reasons listed in the "U" row of the scoring scale tables above, your Series FLEX submission will be marked as "unscorable."

Administrative Review

As stated in both the Series FLEX Rules of Assessment Participation as well as in the Series FLEX score reporting policy, candidates are required to submit their original work. Series FLEX submissions are identified for administrative review if screening indicates a match of identical or similar language with other sources.

To prevent this from occurring, candidates may at no time, including after completing Series FLEX, share their work with other candidates or potential candidates for Series FLEX.

Submissions with high levels of similarity to other sources may be referred to their educator preparation program and/or state education agency with which the candidate is registered, for further investigation and recommendation of appropriate action.

Failure to submit original work will result in, at a minimum, voiding of your Series FLEX submission, but also may include potential licensure consequences, up to and including revocation.

Candidate Score Reporting and Guidance

Candidates will be provided a score report for the Series FLEX submission. Candidates who do not meet the qualifying score for their Series FLEX submission will be provided with feedback related to the extent to which the Series FLEX submission addressed the performance characteristics.

Candidates who do not meet the qualifying score for Series FLEX are permitted to retake the Series FLEX assessment or register to take the other Series FLEX assessment that is available for their subject area or they can retake the related Series assessment. There is no limit on the number of times candidates may retake Series FLEX or the Series. Candidates are required to submit a registration and pay the applicable fees to retake an assessment.

Candidates who do meet the qualifying score will receive a "P" for passing the Series FLEX assessment.

Additional information is available on the test information page for each Series FLEX assessment, including:

- Understanding your Series FLEX Score Report
- Retaking Series FLEX

Submitting Your Assessment

Once a candidate creates an account and registers for Series FLEX, they have access to the Pearson ePortfolio system to upload and manage their Series FLEX assessment via the program website.

- Have you reviewed the performance characteristics and scoring scale for your assessment and considered the extent to which your submission addresses them?

Candidates should re-read the performance characteristics and scoring scale for their assessment and evaluate their Series FLEX submission using the appropriate scoring rubric.

1. Analyze, interpret, and discuss accurately and appropriately the results of an assessment of foundational reading skills for an individual student.
2. Demonstrate the ability to select appropriate examples from a student's reading performance that identify a strength and a need related to foundational reading skills (e.g., phonemic awareness skills, phonics skills, recognition of high-frequency words, syllabication skills, morphemic analysis skills, automaticity, reading fluency [i.e., accuracy, rate, and prosody]).

4. Demonstrate the ability to explain the effectiveness of the selected instructional strategy, activity, intervention, or extension in building on a student's identified strength and/or addressing a student's identified need, using sound reasoning and knowledge of foundational reading skills.

Series FLEX enables you to demonstrate your subject matter knowledge of the Series Foundations of Reading test objectives through submitting materials on a topic that you select. Your submission will be evaluated on the extent to which you demonstrate the depth of your subject matter knowledge of the Series FLEX Foundations of Reading test objective you selected during registration.

Series FLEX involves answering 4 prompts and writing an analysis in which you demonstrate your knowledge of the content assessed by the test objective and further elaborated by the descriptive statement(s) you have selected in relation to your stated topic.

Your responses to the first 4 prompts should be no more than 1 single-spaced page and your written analysis should be no more than 3 single-spaced pages. This instructions page does not count toward your page limits.

This template contains a Prompt Section and a Written Analysis Section. Once both sections are completed, upload the template to the Pearson ePortfolio System.

Series FLEX Spanish Template: Competency 0010

Part B: Oral Response

Record your oral response in Spanish and save your recording as a video file (see specifications in the Series FLEX Assessment Handbook) to be submitted with the completed Prompts Section of this template. DO NOT type your response on this page. Your submission must be at least 4 minutes and no more than 5 minutes. Submissions that are less than 4 minutes in length will not be scored, and scorers will not evaluate any portion that exceeds 5 minutes. Only the candidate's voice/image may be featured; no other persons may be included in the recording.

Candidates are being evaluated on their ability to speak in Spanish, not read aloud. Therefore, do not read your submission verbatim from any prepared materials (e.g., cue cards).

Using the ACTFL Content Standards found in the ACTFL/CAEP Program Standards for the Preparation of Foreign Language Teachers document (pp. 3–13), prepare an oral response in Spanish in which you demonstrate your knowledge of the content assessed by Competency 0010 and further elaborated by the descriptive statement(s) you have selected in relation to your stated topic. Your oral response should reflect complex, concrete topics of personal, general, social, academic, or professional significance.
